SCHOONER WRECKED BELOW RICHMOND

Goes Ashore Near Old Stone Quarries at 2 A. M., but Is Towed to Port.

GREAT HOLE IN HER SIDE

Tug Cunningham and Lighter Sent to Her Relief—Moved by High Tide.

With a great hole in her side, the schooner William Russell, of Labidum, Maryland, is tied up below the Old Dominion wharves, having been unable, even with the aid of the city tug and a lighter, to reach the docks where her cargo of barreled herring should have been discharged. While the Cunningham, which lies alongside, pumps out the water, a large force of negroes is rolling out the barrels. The tug is able to keep the water down, and there is no doubt but that the cargo will be saved. Captain Soles, in charge of the vessel, said that he could not ascertain the extent of the damage until the hold was cleared.

The Russell went ashore at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, just off the old stone quarries, about two miles below the city, as she was being towed in from City Point. At that time it was high tide and there was no use to attempt to move her. There she lay, partially filled with water, until high tide yesterday afternoon, when the Cunningham with a lighter in tow came to the rescue. A portion of the cargo was transferred to the lighter, so with the aid of pumps and the high tide she was floated. On the way up the schooner filled rapidly in spite of the fact that her pumps were working, so it became necessary to moor her at the first convenient landing place, where the tug's centrifugal pump could be put to work and the cargo unloaded.

The vessel was laden with 1,350 barrels of herring consigned by P. M. Spencer, of Labidum, to the A. C. Young Co. of this city. The unloading was nearly finished last night, but no examination of the boat can be made until to-day. Captain Soles and members of his crew took turns at standing guard during the night, while the pumps of the Cunningham ran incessantly. The herring will be hauled to the Young Company's store to-day, none the worse for the accident.

May Need Big Repairs.
Owing to the lack of facilities here, the Russell probably will be detained several days in the effort to patch her up for the return trip. Captain Soles fears that the hole may be so large as to prevent even repairs at this port. He has telegraphed to the owners telling them of the accident and asking instructions. The loss will be covered by insurance.

The Russell is a vessel of 150 tons, and has been plying the Chesapeake Bay for a number of years. She has anchored here a number of times, but Baltimore is her principal port. She sails up the river as far as City Point on the trip to Richmond, and from there is towed in to the dock.

PLEADS GUILTY TO HAVE CASE ENDED

But Scarlet Denies Driving Car in Which Miller Was Killed at Yellow Tavern.

On the strength of the verdict of the coroner's jury, which declared that Walter Austin Miller, demonstrator for the Virginia automobile, came to his death Thursday morning as the result of an accident, James Scarlet, Jr., of Danville, Pa., alleged to have been driving the car at the time, was acquitted on the charge of manslaughter. Immediately after a warrant charging Scarlet with exceeding the speed limit was served on him as he lay in his bed at the Jefferson Hotel. Through a representative of the Virginia Company, he pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25, which was promptly paid.

Owing to injuries received in the accident, young Scarlet was unable to appear before the coroner's jury, which was empaneled at Bennett's undertaking establishment at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. After hearing a number of witnesses, most of whom stated positively that Scarlet was driving the car, the jury was conducted to his room at the Jefferson. He said that he was not at the wheel, but that he had been badly shaken up, could not give a very clear account of the accident.

Following the inquest, Magistrate T. J. Puryear dismissed the manslaughter charge, but considered the weight of evidence strong enough to justify a warrant charging Scarlet with violating the speed laws. Though he still maintained that he was not running the car, Scarlet decided to plead guilty and pay the fine, so as to have the case over with.

FINGERS BLOWN OFF

Roger Childs, Taps Cartridge to See What Would Happen, and It Happens.
In his first lesson on the handling of explosives, Roger Childs, a twelve-year-old colored boy, living at 502 Calhoun Street, was severely injured yesterday, when his right hand was blown almost into shreds. The boy was playing with a cartridge and tapped a nail on the end to see what would happen. It happened.

His index and second fingers and thumb on the right hand were blown practically into his mother's arms. The city ambulance was called and the wounds were dressed. The necessary amputation by Dr. Turman.

Dr. Turman was called also to attend Richard Yachrouh, a white boy, sixteen years old, who had three fingers cut off while working at the Star Paper Dish Company. He was setting dies when part of the machinery caught his hand and cut off the fingers. He was afterwards taken to the Memorial Hospital.

MOTOR STREET SWEEPERS

Cohn Returns from Inspection Trip.
Superintendent Henry Cohn returned yesterday after a trip to New York, where he inspected tests of new automatic street sweeping machinery produced by several manufacturers. The new machines are largely experimental as yet, and while promising much, there is a lack of definite evidence of their efficiency in comparison with the present type of roller brush sweepers drawn by horses. Several of the machines are not sold outright, but are leased to cities on contract basis.

Chief Health Officer E. C. Levy also returned from New York City yesterday, having attended a conference of health experts in the city and in Philadelphia, where the problem of pure milk for cities was discussed.

JONES SENDS CHECK

Name Is Filed First as Candidate for Senate.
First of the four candidates to file his name, Representative William A. Jones, has forwarded his check for $300, and his formal notice of candidacy to the State Board of Elections. His notice was received yesterday. Mr. Ellyson has accepted the nomination of the Democratic party for the office of State Senator for the term beginning March 4, 1912.

All of the aspirants must file their names with the State Board of Elections by noon of next Thursday, May 31, as the party primary law says that such notifications must be in by the first Thursday in June.

MEN'S LEAGUE TO AID NEW CAUSE

Miss Leahy's Suggestion at Woman's Suffrage Meeting May Be Adopted.
A very interesting and well attended mass-meeting of the Equal Suffrage League of Virginia and others sympathizing with the purpose of the meeting was held at 8:30 o'clock last night in Murphy's Hotel Annex.

Mrs. C. V. Meredith presided over the meeting and introduced Miss Mary Johnston, who gave a brief resume of what the league had accomplished during the past year. Other speakers of the evening were Mrs. Kuyk, Miss Coleman, Miss Hennings, Mrs. R. K. Flanagan, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. R. K. Flanagan, Mrs. C. J. Smith, Miss Houston, Miss Adele Clark, W. M. Beckers, Mrs. Harvey Clark, Miss Elizabeth Cooke, Miss Marie Leahy and others. The addresses were all short, but very forcible, the speakers being frequently and warmly applauded.

Mr. Beckers, especially, was listened to with marked attention. A suggestion as to the formation of a Men's League for Women's Suffrage by Miss Leahy was favorably received by a number of men present, and indications are that such a league will be speedily formed in Richmond.

KEPT OUT OF PEN BY PAYING $500

John Dunn, a Thief, Skips, After Lawyer Pollock Went on His Bond.

Police Would Have Opposed Plea for Bail Had They Known of Application.

John Dunn, professional pickpocket, who stands charged with stealing $50 from J. A. Parsley, steward of the Business Men's Club, answered nor came not when his name was called in Police Court yesterday morning. Police Officer Dugan stepped forward with the explanatory information that Mr. Dunn had departed for the North on the 12:30 train from Byrd Street Station on Wednesday, within an hour after he had been bailed before Judge Witt, of the Hustings Court, in the sum of $500, with Councilman Gilbert K. Pollock, his attorney, as surety.

Bailiff Larry Gibbons shrilly called for John Dunn to appear, but attorney Pollock gazed vacantly at the ceiling. Gibbons called again. Three times he called, and the echoes of his cries died unanswered in the corridors of the City Hall. The spectators laughed. No one expected John Dunn to return to face the charge. The term of ten years in the penitentiary, all for the paltry sum of $500.

"Issue an attachment for John Dunn and declare the bond forfeited," said Justice Crutchfield. That ended Dunn's career in Richmond. He has gone to other fields and pastures new.

Pollock Hands Over Bail.

Immediately after Police Court, as if he were prepared for the outcome of the case, Councilman Pollock held his hand to the hustings clerk, Walter Christian, who handed him the amount of the forfeited bail bond. But the lawyer lost not a cent. As a matter of fact, he gained by the transaction, for he had exacted a fee before he took up his fugitive client's case. Dunn not only paid the lawyer his fee, but gave him $500 with which to pay the forfeited bail bond when he should fail to appear.

Though it is usual in the Hustings Court for lawyers to act as surety for their clients, it is not customary in the other courts of the city. No information that Dunn had applied for bail was imparted to the Police Department by any of the officers of the Hustings Court. Therefore there was no objection, although Dunn was full evidence of his guilt. He was caught, after a long chase, by Police-man Sweet, who found him hiding behind a grandfather clock in a commission house on Cary Street. And Dunn further incriminated himself by stating, after his arrest, that he had come from Lynchburg, where he had been confined in the penitentiary. He had confessed Lynchburg with Danville.

When Dunn was called before the bar in the Police Court on Monday, Mr. Pollock asked for and secured a continuance until yesterday. Had there been no postponement Dunn would not have escaped.

When Mr. Pollock applied to Judge Witt for bail, Commonwealth's Attorney Pollock offered no objection, the court acting when the case was called. There would have been objection on the part of the police if they had been advised that Dunn was seeking bail. The prisoner was warned by his lawyer that he must be in court on Friday.

Councilman Pollock did not discuss the case. He simply paid over the $500 which Dunn had left with him, and so far as he was concerned, that ended the case. He had saved Dunn from the penitentiary. The penalty for larceny from the person is not less than one year nor more than ten years in the penitentiary.

HOTEL PLANS FILED

Rapid Progress in Clearing Sites for New Buildings.
Rapid progress is being made in the removal of old buildings in the rear of the Merchants Hotel, to make way for the extension of the present building, for which plans have been filed in the office of Building Inspector Beck. The annex, which will be built on the present building, will entail an approximate cost of $500,000, exclusive of furniture and fittings. The permit for the work will be issued shortly.

No plans have been filed as yet for the new Chesapeake and Ohio-First National Bank Coliseum, which it is understood, will be seventeen stories in height, or for the new home of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, which will be a ten-story building, rapidly cleared under special permits for wrecking the old buildings.

It is anticipated that plans for the new ten-story Riegels annex will be filed in the Building Inspector's office next week. Counting the new Lyric Theatre, for which the permit has been issued, and the government post-office now under construction, this will make four of the best building jobs in the city all within a block of the Capitol Square.

ENJOYED REUNION

Veterans Remember Little Rock—Invitation from Union Veterans.
Reminiscence of the recent meeting of the Grand Camp at Little Rock, Ark., were recounted at the meeting of R. E. Lee Camp last night by Colonel W. B. Freeman. He was delighted with the reception given the veterans, and especially with the honors paid to the camp and the other visitors from Virginia.

The camp received an invitation from Phil Hix of Post No. 10, Grand Army of the Republic, to attend the annual Memorial Day exercises at the National Cemetery at Seven Pines. As it falls on Hollywood Memorial Day the camp will be unable to attend, but the invitation was received and gratefully acknowledged.

TO BRICK-LAYERS

Does a bricklayer need a bank account?
Every one knows that so often when building is crying to be done the workers are handicapped by the weather in summer and winter, as well as by a brick famine, as described in the papers of yesterday. When work stops, pay stops also. A hint to the wise is sufficient; but we wish to do more than hint. We wish to invite the bricklayers and their assistants to come to the

NEW LIGHTS FOR SOUTH RICHMOND

Contract for Electric Poles Awarded by Committee to W. H. Jenks.

Bids were opened and contract awarded by the Council Committee on Electricity last night to W. H. Jenks for erecting poles for the municipal lighting system in Washington Ward. The plans call for 142 lights in South Richmond, necessitating about 415 poles, and the estimated cost of the contract is $60,000. The work is to be done in forty days, under bond in the sum of $600. The city will furnish the poles.

A subcommittee appointed to secure bids for ornamental lighting on Jefferson Avenue was not ready to report. Several members of the committee opposed the idea of going ahead with ornamental lighting similar to that on Broad Street on Jefferson Avenue before they were provided on Main Street or about any of the railway stations. This year's appropriation ordinance of this year provided for extending the Broad Street lighting westward to Jefferson Avenue. Chairman Lynch and Alderman Melton, representing the ward on the committee, plan to have the work done from the general fund for construction and will keep the cost for each section below $5,000, so the Council approval of the contract will not be required.

GROUND IS BROKEN

Work Begun on Episcopal Church in Highland Park.
Ground was broken Thursday afternoon by Rev. James E. Polindexter for the new Episcopal Church, Highland Park, on the lot recently purchased at the corner of Victor Street and Fourth. A good many members of the congregation were present, as were also friends of the movement, including Rev. R. E. Lee, rector of Grace Church; Rev. S. J. Templeman, rector of Northside Baptist Church, and Rev. Merritt, pastor of Highland Park Methodist Church.

After one of the wardens had loosened the turf Mr. Polindexter, the rector and the old pastor, laid the first stone of the ground. Mrs. Anna F. Rahm, who broke ground for the present church building, threw the second stone, followed by Mrs. L. B. Enlow, Mrs. Redd and Mrs. C. E. Bowman. Lastly, the youngest member of the church, little Annie E. Grubbs, turned a tiny morsel of earth.

The vestry is carefully considering many plans, and as soon as a design is selected the contracts will be awarded.

ARMY OFFICERS HERE

Receive Cordial Welcome at Hall of R. E. Lee.
Five of the United States Army officers from the Army War College, now engaged in tactical studies through the battalions of Virginia and encamped at Seven Pines, were visitors at the meeting of R. E. Lee Camp last night. Accompanied by Colonel C. E. Denny, A. E. retired, they called at the camp hall and, presented by Colonel Joseph V. Bidgood, Acting Commander of the camp, were cordially welcomed there, and they inspected the portrait gallery.

Speaking for the visitors, Lieutenant Colonel J. G. Galbraith, Fourth Cavalry, called attention to the fact that his regiment once included the name of Colonel Robert E. Lee, and that his former command, the First Cavalry, had Jefferson Davis as one of its original members.

The other visitors, aside from Colonel Galbraith, were Major Sands, Tenth Cavalry; Captain Moore, Twentieth Infantry; Captain Wolfe, Twenty-second Infantry; Captain Harlike, United States Marine Corps.

Announced Mrs. Grubbs.
Alfred Conrad, a fifteen-year-old white boy, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with trespassing on the farm of William Grubbs and insulting his wife. It is said that Conrad, who lives with his mother on the Williamsburg Road, went to that it was with difficulty that Mrs. Grubbs could induce him to leave the place. She reported the case to her husband, who immediately swore out the warrant.
